NATIONAL STRATEGY FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

1. The general part
Approval of the National Strategy for Human Rights (hereinafter - the Strategy) is due to the need to improve the activities of the state to promote and ensure human rights and freedoms, develop effective mechanisms for their fulfillment and protection, and solve systemic problems in this area.

The events of the Revolution of Dignity (November 2013 - February 2014) testified to the irreversible desire of the Ukrainian people to build a legal and democratic state in which human rights and freedoms are guaranteed and ensured.

In the conditions of armed aggression of the Russian Federation against Ukraine, temporary occupation by the Russian Federation of part of territories in Donetsk and Luhansk regions, territory of the Autonomous Republic of Crimea and Sevastopol (hereinafter - temporary occupation of part of Ukraine) the problem of protection of human rights and freedoms is especially acute.

Along with the priorities of strengthening national security, overcoming the economic and environmental crisis, reforming public administration to ensure human rights and freedoms remain key state’s obligation and should determine the content and direction of the state in all its efforts. In crisis situations, the risks of disproportionate restrictions of human rights and freedoms increase, which requires special control by society.

The Strategy aims to unite society in understanding the values of human rights and freedoms, which are ensured and protected on the basis of the principles of equality and non-discrimination.

The Strategy focuses on solving the main systemic problems to ensure, fulfill and protect human rights and freedoms in the context of new challenges facing society.

Improving the system of ensuring and protecting human rights and freedoms will be carried out taking into account both domestic experience and the principles and approaches developed and tested by the international community. In this regard, the experience of the Verkhovna Rada Commissioner for Human Rights, the European Union, the United Nations (hereinafter - the UN), the Council of Europe, the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, and other international organizations, the case law of the European Court of Human Rights (hereinafter - the European Court), the experience of human rights organizations in Ukraine will be taken into account and used actively.

In cooperation with other states, Ukraine applies an approach based on human rights and freedoms, develops multilateral relations, taking into account international obligations in this area.

2. Purpose and results of the Strategy’s implementation

The purpose of the Strategy is to ensure the priority of human rights and freedoms as a determining factor of public policy, the exercise of powers by public authorities and local governments, and business operations.
The implementation of the Strategy should result in the introduction of a systematic approach to ensuring human rights and freedoms, coordination of actions of public authorities, local governments, CSOs, business entities, creating an effective mechanism to fulfill and protect human rights and freedoms.

The effective implementation of the Strategy will contribute, in particular, to progress in the implementation of international human rights treaties by Ukraine, including the Association Agreement between Ukraine, on the one hand, and the European Union, the European Atomic Energy Community and their Member States, on the other, and the implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals 2030, as well as improving Ukraine’s position in international human rights rankings.

3. Principles of Strategy
The Strategy is based on the following principles:
rule of law, legality and justice;
equality and non-discrimination in ensuring human rights and freedoms;
objectivity and validity of identifying problems in the field of human rights, assessing their scale, finding optimal solutions;
specificity, achievability of goals and measurability of expected results of the Strategy’s implementation;
